

Dialogues in Urban and Regional Planning

Volume 1

Edited by
Bruce Stiftel, Florida State University, USA and
Vanessa Watson, University of Cape Town, South Africa

Dialogues in Urban and Regional Planning offers a selection of the best urban planning scholarship from each of the world's planning school associations. The award winning papers presented illustrate the concerns and the discourse of planning scholarship communities and provide a glimpse into planning theory and practice by planning academics around the world. All those with an interest in urban and regional planning will find this collection valuable in opening new avenues for research and debate.

Set in context by the editors' introductory chapter, these essays draw on local concerns but also reflect international issues. These include the relationship between planning and economy; concerns over the environment and conservation, the nature of the planning process and decision-making, and the effects of power on planned change.

This book is published in association with the Global Planning Education Association Network (GPEAN), and the nine planning school associations it represents, who have selected these papers based on regional competitions.

Bruce Stiftel is professor of urban and regional planning at Florida State University, USA. Vanessa Watson is professor in the City and Regional Planning programme and deputy director of the school of Architecture, Planning and Geomatics at the University of Cape Town, South Africa.

This biennial series is published in association with the Global Planning Education Association Network (GPEAN).

The nine member associations of the GPEAN are:

- The Association of African Planning Schools (AAPS)
- The Association of Collegiate Schools of Planning (ACSP) in USA
- The Association of Canadian University Planning Programs (ACUPP)
- The Association of European Schools of Planning (AESOP)
